You've chosen MARGOT AND THE NUCLEAR SO AND SOS!
The show is on Tuesday November 7th at the Black Cat in DC
They are playing with the Elected and Whispertown

This is a rather intimate venue, and it can get really stuffy and hot. To prepare for your adventure, remember your trusty pocket fan and water mister combo, so that you can stay cool and comfortable while you enjoy Margot and the Nuclear So and Sos. You will have a very fun, fine adventure!

The Decemberists

You've chosen THE DECEMBERISTS!
The show is on Monday October 30th at the 9:30 Club
Lavender Diamond is also playing

This is a pretty big venue with balconies, and it can get a bit drafty. To prepare for your adventure, wear an argyle sweater so you'll be stylish and warm while you sway to the sweet tones of the Decemberists. You will have a smashing good adventure!

death cab for cutie

You've chosen
DEATH CAB FOR CUTIE!
The show is on Monday November 6th
or Tuesday November 7th
at Constitution Hall
oh, and Ted Leo
+ the Pharmacists are opening

This is a big venue so get ready for the crowds of alligators. To prepare for your adventure, don't forget to wear your boots sprayed with alligator repellent so you can stomp alligators in time with the music of Death Cab for Cutie. You will have an exciting, to the X-TREEM adventure!

MÖTLEY CRÜE

You've chosen MÖTLEY CRÜE. That means YÖÖ LÜÜSE.
The show is on Saturday, October 21st in Virginia Beach, VA and other bands might be playing, but who cares?

Unfortunately you've chosen wrong. This is the part of the adventure where you die and have to start over again at the beginning. Survival of the fittest, concert style, and buddy, you're the giraffe with the short neck. You died out because you couldn't see over the music blinders of the 80s, while the giraffes with longer necks had a much better view, and saw that there were bands playing much better music. They brought all the food vendors with them to the better concerts, and unfortunately you just kind of wandered around until you starved to death. If you try to live this adventure again, it is suggested that you stretch your neck a bit an consider music that is new, innovative and awesome. Take off those fm radio headphones, and stick those little white iPod earbuds in for a listen. Seriously, change is good. You shouldn't go away totally empty handed, so why don't you stare at the flag to the left of this text. Stare at it for, say, 27 seconds. Then look at something white and flat, maybe a wall. ooooooo. That's right! You see the American Flag. True, there aren't the right number of stars and stripes and it's the wrong size and it's pointed the wrong way, but you're so behind the times that you probably didn't even notice.
